30-MINUTE ORGAN CONCERT TODAY AT 11:00

One of Phil Holzman's professional goals for 2019 is to learn or re-learn a major piece of organ literature each quarter this year and present a brief organ concert after worship. The first of these concerts take place today when he will share Choral in E Major by César Franck (1822-1890). Everyone is invited to get a snack and a beverage and return to the sanctuary at 11:00, even taking a seat in the choir loft for an up close and personal experience, to enjoy this organ concert. We'll be on our way by 11:30.

MONDAY NIGHT BOOK CLUB TOMORROW EVENING

Join Monday Night Book Club tomorrow at 7:00 p.m. as we participate in GA's April discussion about racial justice. We will discuss the introduction and first two chapters (essays) of A Good Time for the Truth: Race in Minnesota edited by Sun Yung Shin. This book is a compilation of essays written by 16 Minnesota authors. Read about their different perspectives of what it is like to live as a person of color in Minnesota. We will meet downstairs at 7:00 p.m. Books will be provided in the narthex today or tomorrow night.

HOLY WEEK
